Comments on changes made during development are listed below.

The following changes were made due to overlooked details when creating the wireframe:
1. A share button was added to the Course Detail page to facilitate the sharing of course notes. This was overlooked when creating the original wireframe.
2. A Notes label was added to the Course Detail page to display the course notes. This was overlooked when creating the original wireframe.
3. A text entry field was added to the Add and Edit Course pages to allow for entry of the course code. This was overlooked when creating the original wireframe.
4. A Status picker was added to the Add and Edit Term pages to allow for selection of the Term status. This was overlooked when creating the original wireframe.

The following changes were made as the application was developed, in response to platform limitations and perceived benefits to the user:
5. The wireframe shows a text entry next to the back arrow that indicates the page to return to – i.e. "Term Detail" or "Course Detail." Customization of the NavigationPage class did not seem to include the ability to modify this text, so this was omitted.
6. The Assessment Detail page lists the Assessment Title as well as the type of Assessment, this was not included in the wireframe. The title was removed from the detail frame as a result of this change. As I developed the application, I felt more detail in this area provide a better user experience.
7. Though not indicated in the wireframe, the "Add Assessment" button on the Course Detail page is disabled once two assessments are created for a given course. Similarly, the "Add Course" button on the Term Detail page is disabled once six courses are entered for a given term.
8. The text in the cells for the Assessments item list on the Course Detail page was placed in a span rather than separate lines. This was due to space constraints so that the item list would display correctly.
9. The labels for switches enabling notifications was changed from "Start/End Date Notifications" to "Notifications Enabled." I felt this provided a better finished look for the application.
10. The Add and Edit Course pages show all entry fields visible on the wireframe. In reality, these entry fields are contained in a scroll view, and only approximately 40% of the fields are visible at any time. This was a trade-off with readability, and I opted for the scroll view to make the application text easier to read.
